

American Beauty

American Electrical Heater of Detroit, Michigan, did not change its designs often. The company produced this shape for 19 years. The use of clear plastic in the center of the handle relieves the space underneath it. The extra deck on top of the main deck, presented in the form of a narrow wedge, adds one more element that pushes this iron forward. Seen here in orange and red, this was also made with an all-black handle.

American Beauty, no. 79AB

American Beauty, no. 33AB